

Quo Vadis

Martin Robertson

I fled by night and in the grey of dawn met on the lonely way
a man I knew but could not name.
He said "Good morning", I the same and asked if he was going far.
He said "As far as Golgotha."
And then I knew and the cock crew.