

Freedom

Martin Robertson

The gate groans to behind,
thud of finality.
Strange town at closing-time,
the street-cold world lies wide
before the prisoner free.

What now? Follow the wind away, follow your will.
To what joys will it lead?
Dancers on the green
have followed the fairies under hill.