

Cassandra's Song

Martin Robertson

Beauty and dreams of beauty flourish.
Earth leans and the leaves turn and things we shall not live to cherish
others are born to burn.

Fire-raising autumn, black-boughed winter,
spring's green-and-white return:
another beauty flowers into
the wilderness we mourn.