

Martin Robertson

Another Spring

The field of cloth of gold shines as it shone but now within under a winter gloom the gorse on the brown moor is out of bloom that still pricks to the bone.