

Martin Robertson

Inscription for a Convent

Here must the longing blood allay its heat, flesh cast its bloom and shapely hands grow sharp.
Here be content only to form and keep peace in the heart.