

Martin Robertson

[Why do I dream this pause]

Why do I dream this pause
more likely than another to be the end? Because the human heart or rather the human frame finds in its broken sleep despair so wearisome that it is forced to hope.