

Martin Robertson

Acropolis

Gone are the ivory and gold, the colours and the singing gone, but shining still the temples hold their broken faces to the dawn.